INTRODUCTION

In terms of the General Code of Conduct a provider and a representative must avoid, and where this is not possible, mitigate any conflict of interest between the provider and a client or the representative and a client.

In order to adhere to this requirement, the FSP must ensure that adequate arrangements are in place for the management of conflicts of interests that may arise wholly or partially, in relation to the provision of any financial services to clients by the FSP, or any representative of the FSP, as part of the financial services business of the FSP.

The conflict of interest management policy contains the following provisions:

1. Mechanisms for the identification of conflicts of interest.
2. Measures for the avoidance of conflicts of interest, and where avoidance is not possible, the reasons therefore and the measures for the mitigation of such conflicts of interest.
3. Measures for the disclosure of conflicts of interest.
4. The processes, procedures and internal controls to facilitate compliance with the policy.
5. Consequences of non-compliance with the policy by the provider's employees and representatives.

Annexure A A list of all the FSP's associates.

Annexure B A list of all parties in which the FSP holds an ownership interest and a list of all third parties that holds an ownership interest in the FSP.

1. IDENTIFICATION

In terms of Section 3A(2)(b)(i)(aa) of the General Code of Conduct, a conflict of interest management policy must provide mechanisms for the identification of conflicts of interest.

The occurrence or existence of an actual or potential conflict of interest may well, due to its intangible nature, be identified only once a subjective realisation of its presence has been acknowledged by an individual. The legal duty to avoid, whenever possible, an actual or potential conflict of interest is therefore to a large extent dependant on whether an individual believes that there is a conflict of interest to begin with. It is for this reason that Key Individuals and Representatives should arrive at their conclusions only once they have adopted reflective and honest internal dialogue on the subject matter.

Representatives

Throughout the process of rendering a financial service to a client, a Representative must apply his or her mind to answering the following questions:

- “Is there any situation that exists that influences the objective performance of my obligations to my client”?
- “Is there any situation that exists that prevents me from rendering an unbiased and fair financial service to my client”?
- “Is there any situation that exists that prevents me from acting in the interest of my client”?

If the answer to any one of these questions is “no” - No further action would be required

If the answer to any one of these questions is “yes” - The following two questions must also be answered:

- “Is the situation caused by an actual or potential relationship with a 3rd party”? (see definition of 3rd party)
- “Is the situation caused by an actual or potential financial or ownership interest”? (see definition of financial and ownership interest)

If the answer to any one of these questions is “yes” - An actual or potential conflict of interest has been identified.

Note that a conflict of interest is not limited to a financial or ownership interest.

Key Individuals

Throughout the process of rendering a financial service to a client, a Key Individual must apply his or her mind to answering the following questions:

- “Is there any situation that exists that influences the objective performance of the representative’s obligations to his or her client”?
- “Is there any situation that exists that prevents the representative from rendering an unbiased and fair financial service to his or her client”?
- “Is there any situation that exists that prevents my representative from acting in the interest of his or her client”?

If the answer to any one of these questions is “no” - No further action would be required.

If the answer to any one of these questions is “yes” - The following two questions must also be answered:

- “Is the situation caused by an actual or potential relationship of the FSP with a 3rd party”? (see definition of 3rd party)
- “Is the situation caused by an actual or potential financial or ownership interest of the FSP”? (see definition of financial and ownership interest).

If the answer to any one of these questions is “yes” - An actual or potential conflict of interest has been identified.

Note that a conflict of interest is not limited to a financial or ownership interest.

Guidance Notes on “objective performance”, “unbiased and fair” & “financial interest”:

The contextual definition of the relevant sections referring to “influences the objective performance” and “unbiased and fair financial services” cannot to be found within legislation and its interpretive meaning must therefore be sourced from elsewhere.

It is generally accepted that the word “objective” implies a situation where an individual’s feelings or opinions are completely absent. The “objective performance” of an FSP’s obligations therefore implies a situation where financial services are rendered without the influence of unrelated feelings or opinions. In the same vein, “unrelated feelings and opinions” denote separate, external persuasions or motivations where no causal link or nexus can be found between the particular feeling or opinion and the financial service that is rendered within the best interests of the client. Put differently, if an unrelated feeling or opinion of an individual, influences the performance of such said individual’s obligations, it cannot be said to be an objective performance of that individual’s obligation.

The word “bias” indicates an inclination or prejudice in favour of a particular person or viewpoint. Similarly, the word “fair” indicates a situation of just circumstances or treating people equally.

Unbiased financial services therefore imply financial services that do not lend itself to a particular preference towards a person or viewpoint, if an accompanying, reasonable justification for such preference cannot be found. Consequently, all unbiased financial services must necessarily comprise services that are capable of being motivated by readily discernable, logical reasons and explanations. “Fair” financial services on the other hand imply a situation where the same conclusion or outcome is consistently reached given the same exact set of circumstances. In other words, financial services cannot be said to be fair if a pattern of favouritism begin to present itself vis-à-vis a particular person or service. Any unexpected inconsistencies towards a group of clients and/or a particular client must therefore again, have to be motivated by logic reasons and explanations.

A provider or its representatives may only receive or offer the following financial interest from or to a third party:

- Commissions as authorised under the Long-term Insurance Act, Short-term Insurance Act and the Medical Schemes Act.
- Fees as authorised under the Long-term Insurance Act, Short-term Insurance Act and the Medical Schemes Act if those fees are reasonably commensurate to a service being rendered.
- Fees for the rendering of financial services in respect of which the abovementioned commissions and fees are not paid, provided that the client agreed to such fees in writing and may be stopped at the discretion of the client.
- Fees or remuneration for the rendering of a service to a third party, which fees or remuneration are reasonably commensurate to the service being rendered.
- An immaterial financial interest (i.e. a financial interest with a determinable monetary value, the aggregate of which does not exceed R1000 in any calendar year from the same third party in that calendar year received by – a provider who is a sole proprietor, or a representative for that representative's direct benefit, or a provider who for its benefit or that of some or all of its representatives, aggregates the immaterial financial interest paid to its representatives.)
- A financial interest not referred to above, for which a consideration, fair value or remuneration that is reasonably commensurate to the value of the financial interest, is paid by that provider or representative at the time of receipt thereof.

A provider may not offer any financial interest to a representative of that provider for:

- Giving preference to the quantity of business secured for the provider to the exclusion of the quality of the service rendered to clients.
- Giving preference to a specific product supplier, where a representative may recommend more than one product supplier to a client.
- Giving preference to a specific product of a product supplier, where a representative may recommend more than one product of that product supplier to a client.

Mechanisms for Identification

The mechanisms implemented to identify actual or potential conflicts of interests for the FSP are:

- The Compliance Officer of the FSP conducts quarterly reviews on all agreements held with 3rd parties and re-examines whether this relationship influences the FSP's objective performance towards its clients.
- The Compliance Officer of the FSP conducts quarterly reviews on all agreements held with 3rd parties and re-examines whether this relationship influences the FSP's ability to render fair and unbiased financial services towards its clients.

2. AVOIDANCE AND MITIGATION

In terms of Section 3A(2)(b)(i)(bb) of the General Code of Conduct, a conflict of interest management policy must provide measures for the avoidance of conflicts of interest, and where avoidance is not possible, the reasons therefore and the measures for the mitigation of such conflicts of interest.

Once an actual or potential conflict of interest has been identified the following measures will be followed in order to determine whether the conflict of interest is avoidable:

- The Compliance Officer the FSP will convene with the Risk Committee and review the actual or potential conflict of interest in an open and honest forum:
- All information surrounding the actual or potential conflict of interest must be disclosed to all interested parties.

The following consequences must be considered during the review process:

- The consequences of both avoidance and unavailability as well as the subsequent negative impact it will have on clients.
- The consequences of both avoidance and unavailability as well as the subsequent negative impact it will have on the integrity of the financial services industry.

- The consequences of both avoidance and unavailability as well as the subsequent negative impact it will have on the FSP.
- The Compliance Officer of the FSP must apply its mind whether the FSP can obtain a more advantageous transaction, agreement or arrangement with reasonable efforts from a person or entity that would not give rise to a conflict of interest.
- If a more advantageous transaction, agreement or other arrangement is not reasonably attainable under circumstances that would not give rise to a conflict of interest, the Risk Committee of the FSP shall determine by a majority vote whether the transaction, agreement or arrangement is in the best interest of the FSP and any affected client/s and accordingly make its decision as to whether to enter into the transaction, agreement or arrangement in conformity with such determination.

If the Compliance Officer of the FSP has determined that the actual or potential conflict of interest is avoidable, the following processes must be adhered to:

- The Risk Committee must approve, by a majority vote, the removal of the underlying cause of the actual or potential conflict of interest.
- The underlying cause of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be removed as soon as reasonably possible.
- Any negative impact on clients owing to the removal of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be kept to a minimum.
- The reason(s) why the actual or potential conflict of interest was determined to be avoidable must be recorded.
- All determinations and interventions as it pertain to the avoidance of the conflict of interest must be documented and kept on the compliance file.
- Similar conflicts of interests must be avoided in the future.

If the Risk Committee of the FSP has determined that the actual or potential conflict of interest is unavoidable, the following mitigation processes must be adhered to:

- The Risk Committee of the FSP will convene and review an appropriate mitigation process given the unavailability of the particular set of circumstances.
- The reason(s) why the actual or potential conflict of interest is considered to be unavoidable must be recorded and kept on the compliance file.
- The FSP's compliance officer must be made aware of the conflict's unavailability as well as the reasons for such said unavailability.

The mitigation process will include the adoption of the following measures:

- The actual or potential conflict of interest must remain only for as long as it is absolutely necessary given the unavailability of the actual or potential conflict of interest.
- Alternative arrangements to a proposed transaction, contract or arrangement that is the subject of the conflict of interest must be investigated on a continuous basis.

- The rendering of financial services must at all times be conducted as to the best interest of the client (in as far as this is possible, given the unavailability of the actual or potential conflict of interest).
- All representatives must be made aware of the actual or potential conflict of interest, and the reasons for its unavailability.
- Full disclosure of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be made to the client at the earliest reasonable opportunity.
- Full disclosure of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be made to the Financial Service Board during the FSP's annual compliance report.

3. DISCLOSURE

In terms of Section 3A(2)(b)(i)(cc) of the General Code of Conduct, a conflict of interest management policy must provide measures for the disclosure of conflicts of interest.

The FSP must make appropriate disclosures to third parties including clients, as part of its arrangement to manage conflicts of interest. It is acknowledged that while disclosure alone will often not be enough, disclosure must be treated as an integral part of managing conflicts of interest. The FSP is therefore committed to ensure that clients are adequately informed about any conflicts of interest that may affect the provision of financial services to them.

It is furthermore acknowledged that, whilst a clearly identified conflict of interest will not necessarily cause the provision of financial advice to a client to be significantly compromised, it should nonetheless be disclosed to the client. The client must be afforded the opportunity to decide for him/herself whether the conflict of interest is significant and to what extent he/she will rely on the advice or intermediary service.

On the discovery and identification of a conflict of interest, and the subsequent determination of its unavailability, the following disclosure processes will be implemented on behalf of the FSP:

- Full disclosure of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be made to all the Key Individuals of the FSP and where such information is provided orally, the FSP must confirm such information in writing within 30 days.
- Full disclosure of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be made to all representatives of the FSP.
- Full disclosure of the actual or potential conflict of interest must be made to the Compliance Officer of the FSP.

- Full disclosure of the actual or potential must be made to the client at the earliest reasonable opportunity.

- The disclosure must be made before or when the financial service is provided, but in any case at a time that allows the client a reasonable time to assess its effect.
- The disclosure must be formulated in such a way as to be considered prominent, specific and meaningful to the client.
- The disclosure must be made in such a way as to allow the client to make an informed decision as to whether to continue with the financial services.
- The disclosure must indicate the nature of the relationship or arrangement with a 3rd party that gives rise to the conflict of interest.

- The reasons for the conflict of interest's unavailability must be made available to the client on request.
- The conflict of interest management policy must be made available to the client on request.

The processes associated with the implementation and continued compliance of the conflict of interest management policy must be performed by the appointed Compliance Officer of the FSP.

If there is reason to believe that an employee or a representative has failed to disclose actual or possible conflicts of interest, the FSP's Compliance Officer shall afford that person the opportunity to explain the alleged failure to disclose.
